

New Labor Act
Powerless To Stop Petrillo,
Czar Of Music

Washington, July 8 (P)—Two Republican lawmakers said today the new Taft-Hartley labor act is powerless to block James C. Petrillo if he decides finally to ban radio network musical programs and phonograph recordings by his union musicians.

The president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians first told a House Labor subcommittee that "as of now" those are his plans for next year.

After a luncheon recess, however, he said "I'm in hopes that somewhere along the line we won't have to do the things I said we'd have to do this morning."

Plan New Action

Both Chairman Kearns (R-Pa.) and Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.), a subcommittee member, expressed the opinion that the Taft-Hartley act will not "stop Petrillo from going ahead with this if he wants to."

But Kearns told reporters the American public is "entitled to hear" records and radio musical shows and added:

"We will certainly recommend additional legislation on anything that affects the American way of life as this does."

Nixon, in a separate interview, said he is doubtful as to what new law could be enacted to deal "with this absolute czar of the music world" but that:

"If certainly poses the problem to the committee to see what further legislative steps can be taken."

Sees "Revolution"

Both lawmakers said they do not see how the musicians' refusal to make records or to take part in network shows could invoke the court injunction provision of the new labor law because that section applies only where the public welfare is jeopardized.

However, Nixon added, "I can visualize somewhat of a revolution within the musicians' union itself if Petrillo goes ahead with his plans."

"If the union members object and Petrillo tries to force them to accept his ban, then the provisions of the Taft-Hartley act against coercion might be applied."

But the penalty for "coercion" under the Taft-Hartley act is loss of bargaining rights and Petrillo's union has no special problems there. It represents virtually all the professional musicians in the nation and faces no competition from other unions.

Littlestown
Union Service
At Littlestown
Held In Church

The weekly Sunday evening union park service was held in Centenary Methodist church on account of the rainy weather. The Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed Church, was in charge of the service. The opening hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King," was followed by the invocation by the Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Another hymn, "O Worship The King," followed, after which the joint choir of St. Luke's and Christ churches sang the anthem, "Thou Art My Shepherd" (Händel). Miss Hylda Klinefelter, of St. Luke's Lutheran church, and Miss Lucille Shoemaker, of Christ Reformed church, played two piano-accompaniment selections, "Our Best" and "Bringing In The Sheaves." The Scripture, Acts 2:37-47, was read by the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed church.

The offering was in charge of the Rev. Kenneth D. James, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church. The joint choir sang a selection, "I Lift My Soul To Thee" (Norman). Announcements were given by Rev. Reynolds. The hymn, "O Word of God Incarnate," was followed by the sermon, "An Ideal Church," by Rev. Brumbach. Misses Klinefelter and Shoemaker played two more selections, "Tell It To Jesus" and "Have You Counted The Cost?" A hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," was followed by the benediction by Rev. James. The choir was under the direction of Paul Berwager, church director of Christ church. Next week's service will be in charge of the Methodist congregation. It will be held in Crouse park at 7 p. m. In case of rain, it will be conducted in the Methodist church.

CELEBRATION
FOR V-J DAY

Preliminary plans for a V-J Day celebration for veterans and their ladies, probably in the form of a dance at the Hotel Gettysburg annex, were announced Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion. Complete arrangements are to be made later this week by a committee headed by Lawrence Sheads, according to the announcement.

Nine new members were accepted by the post, bringing its total number of members to 1251. The new members include Benton Thomas Harpster, 229 Baltimore street; Charles L. Reynolds, 255 Chambersburg street; Charles Anderson Kennedy, York Springs; Patrick Charles Cunningham, 48 Chambersburg St.; Alva Williams, 124 Carlisle street; Charles F. Dillman, Jr., 428 South Washington street; John Mervin Crouse, 27 East High street; Paul E. Fetters, Gardner's R. 2; and Allen Alexander Larson, 401 Buford avenue.

25-Year Members

Six members were presented with certificates for having been members in good standing for 25 years. They were Howard J. Hartzell, Gettysburg R. 5; Clarence Bumbaugh, Gettysburg R. 5; Carl S. Menchey, Steinwehr avenue; Carl R. Martz, East Water street; William T. Timmins, Sr., Buford avenue and Wilbur A. Geiselman, Baltimore street.

William T. Timmins, Sr., of the building committee, reported that the ducts for the air conditioning are being installed and that all of the air conditioning equipment has been received. He also reported that the steel for the fire tower was to be received today and that the basement in the rear of the present Legion building will be completed by the end of the month, after which it will be turned over for the use of the post. Eight men are still needed to fill out the drum corps, according to reports presented.

Donate Old Uniforms

The post voted to donate the uniforms used by the now-defunct Junior Legion drum corps to the Junior Police for use by a drill team.

A $25 donation was made to the Girl Scouts, with the post pointing out that it "would like to make a larger donation but is unable to do so at the present time due to the demands made by the building program." A donation of "the same amount as last year" was voted for the Gettysburg fire company.

Seventy members attended the session at which Commander Edward Culp presided.

Nation-Wide Coal Strike
Averted; Sign Agreement

Washington, July 8 (P)—An agreement averting a nation-wide soft coal strike was signed today by John L. Lewis and a majority of the bituminous operators.

In announcing the signing, Lewis told a news conference that it is "reasonable to assume" the entire industry will accept the agreement within a few days.

More than half of Lewis' 400,000 United Mine Workers are covered by agreements thus far signed by northern commercial operators, steel companies and mine owners in the west and midwest.

For the workers, it means the highest pay in history and the right to work when "willing and able."

For the public, it means higher coal prices and possibly less coal production under a shorter work day provided in the contract.

The miners originally were scheduled to return to the pits early today at the end of a 10-day vacation. But they stayed away pending word from Lewis that the wage agreement—completed last night—had been formally signed.

As soon as the various operators signed, UMW headquarters sent out the signal for the back-to-work move in those operators' mines.

Still to accept the pact are the southern operators, who refused to participate in industry-wide negotiations, and scattered operators in the midwest and west. Combined, they represent slightly more than 40 per cent of total soft coal production.

Lewis said the pact would be "interesting" because it is the first negotiated since passage of what he scathingly described as the "Taft-Hartley bill putting new restrictions on unions."

Discussing that law, Lewis accused the Republican party of "selling out to finance and industry" for contributions to the 1946 Congressional campaign which gave it control of Congress.

"One thing about a Republican Congress," Lewis said, "they stay bought."

SAYS TOWN CAN SAVE MONEY ON LIGHT CHANGES

Gettysburg's borough council could, in some instances, at least, save money on the installation of street lights, if it would consult the local management of the Metropolitan Edison company before ordering new lights, Edward H. Blettner, Hanover, a representative of the company, told council members at their regular July meeting at the engine house Monday night.

"In the past, lamps have been ordered placed or changed, and it was found necessary to increase the line," he said. "If the company had been consulted, it might have been possible to place one larger type light in the center of the street instead of moving an old light and placing a new one," he said.

This would save the borough the added cost of new wires, and lights themselves would be cheaper, he pointed out. Most of the lights in the borough are of the 1,000 lumen type, which cost $11 each per year, he said. A 2,500 lumen light would cost $19 a year. One 2,500 lumen light instead of two 1,000 lumen lights would save the borough $3.

Error In Contract

Changes were made in the ten-year lighting contract adopted June 2, when Blettner told council an error had been made by his company in figuring line footage. The total cost will be $281.69 per month instead of $272.93, an increase of $8.76, he said. Engineers for the company have not always reported line footage when new lights have been installed in the past several years, he said. A survey of the borough showed more line footage than was figured in the contract presented last June.

The borough's contract is figured on the basis of 203 lights. Blettner apologized to the council for inability to have all of the 20 new lights ordered recently installed. He said materials and wire were scarce. The cost of street lighting has decreased 33 per cent, however, he said, since 1927.

WITNESS QUEEN CROWNING

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lippy, Sr., Chambersburg street, have returned from a Fourth-of-July vacation spent at Lititz, where they viewed the crowning of the "Candle Queen," an old Moravian custom which includes the lighting of 10,000 candles.

The queen's court, Boy Scouts and other young people, took part in the ceremony of the lighting of the candles which dates back to the 1700's, the founding date of Lititz.

Polluted Water May
Harbor Virus Of Polio

A third precaution among six simple health rules that should be observed during the polio epidemic season is to avoid swimming in polluted waters, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis cautions, through its local chapter.

While proof of direct infection by this means is lacking, the National Foundation points out that research financed by March of Dimes funds indicates that the virus causing polio is often found in sewage.

Consequently, wherever sewage may find its way into waters used for swimming, such waters should be avoided. To be sure, consult your local Health Department.

Take no chances and don't swim in waters known to be polluted.

ASK SURVEY OF
TRAFFIC LIGHTS
IN GETTYSBURG

Borough council, at its regular meeting Monday night in the engine house, directed its secretary, Mrs. Anna Dracha, to write to the State Highway department, requesting that highway engineers come to Gettysburg and make a survey of traffic light requirements here.

The action was taken following receipt of a letter from Harrisburg warning the borough that all traffic lights must conform to state regulations and be approved by January 1, 1948. The letter asked what Gettysburg intended to do about its lights.

A letter was received from the Gettysburg Women's club, asking council to make a survey, with the end in view of providing police protection to school children attending the High street school. The letter said that many small children are forced to cross streets to and from school, particularly at Baltimore and High streets and York and Stratton streets.

Making Plans

Council President Ray M. Hoffman said that this matter was under consideration by Burgess, C. A. Heiges, who was not present at the meeting, and that the borough was formulating plans to provide police protection for the children at these intersections when school starts again. Hoffman said the police were handicapped before school closed by a shortage of men.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner was directed to make repairs to the Tiber wall at the Mehring property, and was given authority to order two truckloads of tar and the necessary stone for building Reservoir street and surfacing Locust street.

Council authorized a two weeks' vacation with pay for Robert Shealer, disposal plant employee, the vacation to be taken one week at a time.

50-50 Class Holds
Fifteenth Meeting

The 15th meeting of the 50-50 class of St. James Sunday school was held Monday night in the social rooms of the church, with 24 members present. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of the church, spoke briefly.

The class decided to attend the annual picnic of the St. James Sunday school at the South Mountain fair grounds July 24 and sit in a group at a table for the picnic supper.

The following new members joined the class: Mr. and Mrs. Jay Schmitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arnold. Games were played and refreshments served. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Foulk will be the hosts for the next meeting.

WOMAN IS HURT
IN LOCAL CRASH

Mrs. Lillian James, 39, Chicago, Ill., suffered a laceration of the scalp, a fracture of the right forearm and a possible fracture of a rib Monday evening when the car in which she was riding crashed into another at the intersection of Howard avenue and the Biglerville road about one mile north of here.

Charles R. Hardy, 52, Baltimore, Md., in whose car Mrs. James was riding, was said by state police to have been driving north and to have attempted a left turn into the avenue from the Biglerville road in the path of a south bound car driven by Cyrus G. Bucher, 34, Biglerville. Bucher was driving a car owned by John Albert, of Biglerville.

Hardy paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of failing to yield the right of way brought by the investigating officer before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

The crash occurred at 6:55 o'clock Monday evening and Mrs. James was removed to the hospital in the local ambulance. Damage to the two cars was estimated at $500.

ROTARY CLUB
TOLD OF TRIP TO ANTARCTIC

The story of "Project Highjump," the naval expedition to the Antarctic that ended this spring was told in word and motion pictures Monday evening to the Gettysburg Rotarians by one of the men who made the trip.

While the usual scientific program was carried out during the expedition, one of the things that stood out was the fact that "regulation GI equipment stood up under polar conditions just as it has everywhere else in the world," the speaker, John Waltersdorf, Washington, Pa., told the Rotarians.

Waltersdorf, a grandnephew of Mrs. Virginia Huddle, Carlisle street, was one of four Army photographers loaned to the Navy for the trip.

None of the 4,000 men who made the expedition were specially trained for Antarctic work, Waltersdorf explained, nor were the ships used to transport the expedition specially designed for polar work.

The title, "Operation Highjump" was given the expedition because of the "highjump" needed to get onto the ice off the continent of Antarctica, Waltersdorf explained.

Explains "White Darkness"

A desolate land, the Antarctic's chief characteristic is "white darkness," Waltersdorf explained. "Only occasionally does the sun shine, usually there is no sun, no light, nothing but whiteness without a third dimension." His motion pictures, he said, "sometimes look like they are overexposed but really are not, show the scene exactly as it looks,—just whiteness—no shadows, no distinct sharpness—just white."

"Surrounding the five million square miles of the Antarctic continent is an ice pack which to a distance of 500 miles from land freezes to a depth of 30 to 50 feet," the speaker continued. "During the late summer season the pack along the 180th meridian melts into a mushy, broken up mass through which ships can pass to within 100 miles of the shore line."

During the recent trip the ice pack did not melt as much as normally and it took the central group of (Please Turn to Page 4)

Man Injured At
New Oxford Dies

Paul D. Krider, 26, Chambersburg R. D. 2, a carpenter, died in the Hanover General hospital Monday afternoon at 12:50 o'clock from a fractured skull, the result of an accident which occurred last Thursday morning while at work in New Oxford.

Coroner Lester J. Sell, York county, said that Krider was employed by his father-in-law, Avery Sollenberger, and was engaged in construction work at the George Litch grain and feed elevator in New Oxford when he accidentally fell a distance of 40 feet. He was rushed to the Hanover General hospital where efforts to save his life failed.

Coroner Sell signed the death certificate and released the body to a Chambersburg undertaker.

Krider is survived by his wife and one child, Coroner Sell was informed.

37 ARRESTS IN JUNE; METERS
GROSS $1,936

Thirty-seven arrests were made by borough police during June, according to the monthly report submitted by Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster to borough council Monday night.

One interstate auto theft was turned over to the FBI, the report said. One person arrested on a felony charge entered a guilty plea. Six were arrested on drunk and disorderly charges, and 17 for motor violations. Twelve summonses were sent out for parking offenses.

The report said there were nine automobile accidents during the month involving 17 cars and one bicycle. Estimated damage was $333. Parking fines totaled $39. There was $284.25 in stolen property and cash recovered, Harpster said. Eighty-one minor complaints were investigated.

$1,936 from Meters

The monthly report of Burgess C. A. Heiges showed $52 collected in building permits; $2 for guide permits; $600.66 in theater license; $90 from a carnival permit; $7.50 in peddler's licenses and $37 from meter violations, a total of $789.16.

Parking meters took in $1,936.07 during June, the report of Borough Treasurer John H. Basepore showed. Receipts were divided as follows: Center Square, $510.64; Baltimore street, $449.06; Chambersburg street, $446; York street, $342.60, and Carlisle street, $187.77.

The balance in the borough treasury at the end of the month was shown as $32,841.05.

Here And There
News Collected At Random

Pilots of airplanes who violate any of the rules and regulations of the state or federal government while flying out of the local airport will be grounded, Leon Witzelman, manager, said today.

During recent months a number of young pilots throughout the east have been reported "buzzing" towns and performing other illegal air stunts. In some cases the results have been fatal.

When asked to comment on such performances Manager Witzelman said:

"There is no better time than the present to elaborate on the wisdom of abiding by the rules and regulations as set forth by the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Administration and as stringently enforced by the local airport. Air rules are formulated for the protection of the general public on the ground and for the safe, conservative operation of the aircraft and its occupants. Low hazardous flying, diving, zooming or buzzing is definitely in violation of every rule and should be considered as an attempt to destroy private property."

"The local airport will not tolerate such practices and it is known by every air enthusiast using the Gettysburg Airport, that his flying career in Gettysburg will immediately terminate upon violation of such rules. Local airmen, both students and seasoned pilots, are under constant surveillance for both proper air techniques and the compliance with all safety regulations."

"The public can render considerable assistance in the enforcement of air safety rules by reporting all aircraft which, in their opinion, are operating too low or in an unsafe manner. The report should consist of a slight description or number of the aircraft and the time of observation. If this is immediately reported to the Gettysburg Airport by calling Gettysburg 871, proper action will be taken. In so doing, the public will help maintain a splendid air safety record in this community."

GROUPS MEET WEDNESDAY

A meeting of the Women's Missionary society and the Silver Circle of St. James church will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church parlors, with Mrs. C. Culp as leader. Mrs. Earl J. Bowman is chairman of the hostess committee of the Silver Circle.

Good Evening
Do you have to be in your cups to see the flying saucers?

Numerous tourists and visitors to Gettysburg from July 1 through July 4 expressed disappointment that there were no commemorative activities held here on the 84th anniversary of the three-day battle or the 171st anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, a survey of business establishments in Gettysburg reveals.

While some merchants, restaurant owners and others who come into contact with the visiting public said they had not received any complaints, others reported that "the tourists did nothing but complain because we had nothing."

William W. Shields, proprietor of the Majestic Soda Grill, reported that he had "at least 30 inquiries from tourists about what activities were planned." And all seemed disappointed because there were no activities. Most of them he said, "seemed to think that there should at least be a parade on July 4 and most thought the town should have fireworks for the Fourth. Several recalled the activities of Marines here several years ago which they witnessed and said they had hoped to see a similar re-enactment of the battle during their trip this time."

Recalled Other Celebrations

The employees of the Swope service station reported that they had many customers who were disappointed because there was nothing scheduled here for the Fourth. Several reported that customers had told them: "We used to come to Gettysburg every year to see the fireworks and the battlefield on July 4. We were hoping for the same sort of program again." Most of those asking about the fireworks and saying how they had enjoyed them in the past were from the District of Columbia, the employees reported.

R. E. Mackley, of the Gulf station on Carlisle street, said that only a few tourists had asked him about special activities but added that "we should have something to attract tourists here over the Fourth of July, particularly since the state is planning to extend the super-highway. Now many tourists stop here because it is along the main road. If the super-highway is extended we will have to attract the tourists here."

Commemorate Battle

Mackley added that "we should at least have something like the celebration I saw at Buffalo where there were fireworks and a big name dance orchestra for a dance."

Lois Ann Holtz, an employee at Penrose Myers' store, reported that "a number of people asked me why there was no parade, and some seemed rather angry because there was none. Several said that there should at least have been a baseball game here, so there would be something to do in addition to viewing the battlefield. All seemed surprised because there were no fireworks."

Philip M. Bikle, Baltimore street insurance man, who said he had not seen any tourists over the holiday period added that while it was his belief that few tourists would be attracted by a program of speech-making, parades and fireworks, "we should at least have some type of program for ourselves, in commemoration of the battle here and July Fourth."

"Should Do Something"

George F. Eberhart, owner-manager of the Hotel Eberhart, said "a number of visitors asked about a celebration here to commemorate the battle anniversary dates and Independence Day."

"This happens every year. A great many people come to Gettysburg expecting to find something to entertain them. They just naturally expect that Gettysburg will have some sort of program each year to mark these significant days in our history."

"Something should be done each year and if it is properly publicized the town will be crowded. People like to visit Gettysburg but we should do something to entertain them while they are here."

The Hotel Gettysburg reported many inquiries relative to a July 4th celebration, or a commemoration here of the anniversary of the famous battle.

"We had many inquiries as to whether there would be a celebration in Gettysburg July 1, 2, or 3, on (Please Turn to Page 4)

BIG SPIRITUAL REVIVAL UNDER WAY IN EUROPE

(By FRED MACKENZIE)

Quite some years ago when your correspondent was a youngster living in the Vermont parsonage from which his clergyman father administered to the welfare of the parish, the church occasionally would hold religious revivals when it seemed that the community was skidding spiritually and morally—an effective method of stimulating sluggish consciences and of getting minds back into tone.

Those revivals were mighty impressive, and memories of them linger. Perhaps that's why the writer attaches great importance to a revival which is boiling up in stricken Europe—a widespread crusade to stimulate rehabilitation of spiritual values which Hitler did his deliberate best to kill, and which other isms continue to attack.

We saw a concrete example of this drive for spiritual rehabilitation Sunday when King George and Prime Minister Attlee led Britons in a national day of prayer. Throughout the country people gathered in the churches to seek Divine guidance for the trying days to come, and in old St. Paul's Cathedral where the King and Attlee worshipped, the Archbishop of Canterbury asked that "As a nation we may return to the simple laws of the Ten Commandments."

Undo Hitler's Work

But that wasn't merely a one-day demonstration, for extensive plans have been made to continue this drive for spiritual rehabilitation. Moreover the revival is by no means restricted to England, for the continent also is on the march, and has been for a long time, as I discovered during my last visit. Everywhere you go you find movements under way to repair the grievous damage done by Hitler, who waged a fierce campaign to destroy Christianity. He maintained that religion was the enemy of Nazism, as no doubt it was, for no upright person could subscribe to the Fuehrer's program of wholesale conquest, slaughter and enslavement.

And Hitler didn't stop with his attack on religion. He pursued a studied program for the debasement of the peoples he conquered in order to render them subservient to him. His idea was to destroy not only morale but morals, and he did vast damage. For example, he was mainly responsible for the establishment of the terrible Black Market which did so much to wreck the economy of France. The Black Market was inaugurated by the German army under instructions from Hitler.

Fight for Religion

However, spiritual and moral values are on the march in Europe, and there is great hunger for new ideas. The war has drawn sharper lines, and these days the European has to fight for his principles, because the opposition to religion didn't disappear with Hitler. There are other elements at work, and they are tough.

It's a real risk to stand up for moral and spiritual things in some parts of Europe. You've got to be prepared to pay.

A great center of the revival is at Caux-sur-Montreux, Switzerland, where a World Assembly for Moral Re-Armament will open on July 15 and will continue until September 15. This is the second year of the Assembly, and last year it was attended by some 2,500 delegates from 28 nations.

I have just received a letter from a member of the House of Commons in London, saying that a sizable Parliamentary delegation will attend the Assembly at Caux. Representatives from the Parliaments of many other countries also are expected to participate. Thus moral rearmament will radiate in many directions from Caux to continue aiding the crusades which I myself saw under way in numerous places, among them England, Holland, France and Switzerland.

Says Frat Members Held Picnic In Rain

A Philadelphia newspaper said today that (purported) members of the Sigma Chi fraternity of Gettysburg college on a picnic (allegedly) held near the Pennsylvania memorial on the battlefield here (in the rain) at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, claimed they saw the much-publicized "flying saucer" in the sky.

Park officials here said today they knew of no picnic held (in the rain) Monday afternoon on the battlefield.

Persons answering the telephone at the Sigma Chi house on Carlisle street today dodged all inquiries for either confirmation or denial of the (?) story.

Bevin Reiterates Open Mind Statement

London, July 8 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today the Marshall program of American aid "may yet make the biggest contribution to the unity of the peoples of Europe."

"Europe is bleeding; it must be stopped."

Without mentioning Russia by name, but making his reference unmistakable, Bevin repeated in an address to a luncheon club the statement he made after the recent three-power Paris conference broke up—that Great Britain "will cooperate with those who will cooperate but will keep the door open for those who will not in the hope that they will."

"One has to prevent oneself from becoming annoyed and irritated," he said. "In these days, if you immediately allow that to occupy your mind, you have sown the seeds of another struggle."

"Ham" Set Used To Save Soldier

Audubon, N. J., July 8 (AP)—An amateur radio operator relayed a doctor's instructions more than 6,000 miles today to help save the life of a soldier injured in an army plane crash on a tiny Pacific island.

Using his "ham" set, Joseph Bonsted, a shipyard worker on vacation, arranged for a physician in the Audubon, N. J., hospital to broadcast direct to Palmyra island, 1,000 miles south of Hawaii. Bonsted had been asked for aid by Steve Sherwood, Barnes of Phoenixville, Pa., stationed on the island. Bonsted and Barnes, previously, had been in contact with each other.

DISC PARADE HAS NATION'S NECKS WAY OUT

(By The Associated Press) America's "flying saucer" jag reeled on today. Stiff necks and goggle eyes were the order of the day. Sky watching was a new profession.

North Carolina joined the disc parade. For the first time the discs were reported whirling through the atmosphere over Asheville in western North Carolina and over Greensboro and Raleigh in the north central portion.

Tabulators quickly figured forty-one states had joined the disc brigade since the objects were reported June 25.

Explanations. Take your choice: They were radio-controlled flying missiles sent aloft by U. S. military scientists. Or they were merely light reflected on wing tanks of jet-propelled planes. Or—

No one knew for sure. The World Inventors Congress posted $1,000 for delivery of a flying disc to the exposition which opens in Los Angeles on July 11.

Could they be spotted by radar? A spokesman for the Army Air Forces said in Washington that no attempt had been made to spot the spinning, flying, whirling, stationary discs because there was not enough equipment to blanket the nation.

Says He Invented It
Chattanooga, Tenn., July 8 (AP)—A. B. Cross, 34-year old watchmaker who was born in New Castle, Pa., says he invented the flying saucer and submitted a model of it to the War Department in 1943.

The War Department kept two drawings and returned the remainder, plus a model and photographs, saying the idea was not practical "at the present time," Cross said yesterday.

He added the department told him to get in touch with Bell Aircraft and that firm advised him to contact Alexander Seversky, aircraft inventor. He got tired of what he called the "run-around" and gave up.

Statements air force members have made to him have convinced him the War Department elaborated on his original plan and had begun production of such planes, Cross said.

The native Pennsylvanian told the News-Free Press his model was powered with a rubber band—but he thought the discs were "atomic-powered." He said he had worked at Patterson Field, Ohio, and Hendricks Field, Fla.

reported he has received complaints of landlords demanding a "bonus" of $5 or $10 before offering the new leases. Other complaints were that landlords were trying to backdate the leases with increased rent.

McPeak announced that in such cases he would take landlords to court and force them to pay back any money they collect illegally.

ACCIDENTS MAR DREAM GAME AT WRIGLEY FIELD

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—Baseball's gaudiest single day show, the 14th All-Star major league game, returns to its storied major city today with the American league's upper crust favored to squeak the National league's best before a Wrigley Field capacity crowd of 43,000.

Fair skies and 80-degree temperatures were predicted for this mid-summer "dream game" which, except for the pitchers, is strictly a fan proposition for the first time since 1935. A nationwide poll was held to select the teams.

There were last-minute complications to this high-geared spectacle in which, at approximately 1:30 p. m. (Chicago Daylight Time), Lanky Ellwitt Blackwell, pride of the Cincinnati Reds, will explode the first pitch at American league lead-off man, George Kell, Detroit third baseman.

Chandler Ailing
For one thing, American league starting hurler, Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees, turned up in Chicago with an ailing elbow. There were reports that he might not be able to work.

Pilot Joe Cronin of the American leaguers said he'd determine in pre game warm-ups whether Chandler could pitch the first three innings.

On the National league side, a train mishap here yesterday shook up the Philadelphia Phillies' contingent including starting second baseman Emil Verban, Pitcher Schoolboy Rowe and Manager Ben Chapman, an All-Star coaching aide to Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Verban, Rowe Hurt
At last report Verban was in bruised condition but anxious to join the All-Star battle. Rowe was banged up and there was a chance that he might not be able to appear.

The All-Star frolic had its inception at Comiskey Park here in 1933. Last year the power-packed Americans drubbed the Nationals, 12-0, at Boston's Fenway Park. Bobby Feller of Cleveland, Hal Newhouse of Detroit and Jack Kramer of St. Louis, shut out the senior circuit with three hits. All were named to the original 1947 squad.

Feller's absence, due to a pulled back muscle, was the most important factor in cutting the Amerks' advantage. Otherwise, on the basis of Feller's sensational All-Star record and the American league 9-4 win record, it would have been ruled "no contest."

Sharply tilted prices are expected to pull $135,000 in gross receipts with about $100,000 going into the player pension fund. Wrigley Field has been sold out for months. Shortly before game time about 3,000 standing room tickets will go on sale.

KILREAS SIGN WITH ROCKETS

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—The Philadelphia Rockets of the American hockey league obtained a new coach in a four-player deal.

The Rockets signed Wally Kilrea yesterday to take over the coaching duties from Phil Hergesheimer, the circuit's leading scorer in 1946-47, who had served temporarily as player-coach last season.

Kilrea's brother, Ken, also inked a Rockets' contract.

The two Kilreas, both big names in American and National league ice hockey, were obtained in a deal with Eddie Shore, owner of teams in Springfield, Mass.; Fort Worth, Tex., and San Diego, Calif.

The 38-year-old Wally coached Shore's Fort Worth team in the United States league last year. Ken, 28-year-old center, played in 33 games for Fort Worth before joining Springfield in the American hockey league.

The Rockets sent forwards Billy Warwick and Eric Unger to Shore in exchange for the Kilreas.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 8 (AP)—Joe Louis, who usually manages to get the right thing, seems to have skidded in his knowledge of mathematics or human nature when he figured the public wouldn't pay 15 cents to see him fight Sweden's Ole Tandberg. Joe isn't old enough to remember when they imported France's "orchid man," Georges Carpentier, to fight Jack Dempsey. . . . Gorgeous Georges was better known by reputation than Tandberg is, but as an opponent for Dempsey he was so weak that they made him do his training in secret. . . . Nevertheless, that 1921 fight at Jersey City drew boxing's first million dollar gate. The public paid $1,789,238 and Promoter Tex Rickard almost threw a fit for fear the bout would end so quickly the customers would start a riot. . . . Tandberg, according to available records here, has fought most of Europe's good heavyweights in the past seven years with a record of 16 victories (eight by knockouts, four losses and a draw).

STREAM OF POOLERS
In addition to Big Barney Poole, back from West Point with a few years of eligibility left, the U. of Mississippi football squad next fall will include three of his cousins, Phillip, first-team guard; Jackie, sophomore end, and Leslie, freshman tackle. . . . Leslie is the eighth member of the Poole clan to enroll at Ole Miss. . . . Would you call that Poole-ing resources or vice versa?

CLEANING THE UPF
Penn State's Bob Higgins and Washington State's Phil Sorboe, who are football strangers, have agreed to exchange movies of their 1946 games as a substitute for scouting before their September 20 clash at Hershey, Pa. . . . West coast reports say the golf writers aren't happy over the fact that U. S. G. A. officials have reserved most of the rooms at the most convenient hotel to Pebble Beach, where the national amateur will be played.

Next All-Star Game At St. Louis
Chicago, July 8 (AP)—With the 1948 All-Star game awarded to the St. Louis Browns, major league club owners and officials settled back to watch a ball game today after a series of executive sessions.

Pacific Coast league bids for recognition as a third major league on a "provisional" basis were referred yesterday to the Executive Council which will consider exemption of the coast players from the annual player draft for the next "three to five years."

Any action on the Coast league's proposal about draft exemption would have to be made before the winter meetings or it would be meaningless. The majors meet in New York in December and the draft must be held November 1, according to the major-minor code.

ROBERTSON HAS RETIRED FROM COACHING JOB

Philadelphia, July 8 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania's internationally-famous track coach—Lawson Robertson—has retired after 31 years' service.

The retirement was "by mutual agreement," said Dr. E. Leroy Mercer, dean of Penn's Department of Physical Education.

"Coach Robertson came to the university in 1916 with an established reputation as a track coach and has added lustre to his name and to the annals of sport during his 31 years as head coach," Mercer said.

A member of the 1904 U. S. Olympic track team, "Robbie" served as head track mentor for American Olympic stars in 1924, 1928, 1932 and 1936. War forced cancellation of the 1940 and 1944 Olympics.

The 64-year-old native of Aberdeen, Scotland, led Penn to titles in the National Senior Indoor Track and Field Meet and the Cross-country Intercollegiate championships in 1918. His 1923, 1924, 1930 and 1931 squads won the Indoor Intercollegiate championships and the 1920 team captured the Outdoor Intercollegiate Diadem.

Came Here When Nine
Robertson, brought to the U. S. by his parents at the age of nine, started his athletic career in 1901 when he joined the Brooklyn YMCA. He placed second in the 1904 Olympics' standing high jump. In 1906, 1907 and 1908 he won the 300-yard National Indoor championship. He also won the 150-yard National Indoor title in 1907.

Mercer, lauding "Robbie" for his long and loyal service, said "the university has never had finer cooperation nor more loyal support from a coach. I know the other officers of the University of Pennsylvania join me in this statement."

No successor has been named to Robertson's post and Mercer said a decision is not expected for some time.

Penn officials said financial arrangements have been made "by mutual agreement" to permit Robertson to retire before the normal retirement age of 70 because of the very active nature of his occupation.

Hagerstown Owls Now In 4th Place

(By The Associated Press)
The idle Hagerstown Owls climbed into fourth place in the Inter-State league standings today — one percentage point ahead of Trenton who lost 7-3 to Wilmington last night in a rain-terminated contest.

The Wilmington-Trenton game, called in the seventh inning, was the only one played as rain forced postponement of three other frays. Curt Simmons, sensational 18-year-old pitcher, recorded his fourth win in five starts. He struck out five to boost his season total to 59.

The 15th annual reunion of the Herr-Hoffman families was held Sunday at Pipe Creek park, near Taneytown, Md., with 125 members in attendance from Indiana, Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Gettysburg and other nearby communities.

Mrs. Vivian Daugherty, Detour, Md., was elected president; Kenneth Daugherty, Detour, vice president and secretary, and Raymond Herr, Gettysburg treasurer.

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—Burglars who broke into the Swift & Co., wholesale meat market battered a big safe without making a dent in it.

BOUDREAU TOPS BATTING MARKS

New York, July 7 (AP)—Paced by Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau's 350, five of the American league's top ten hitters were in the starting lineup of today's 14th annual all-star game at Chicago while four of the National league's first ten leading hitters open for the Nationals.

Boudreau, who has been idle for a week due to an injury, enjoys an 11-point lead over his all-star teammate runner-up Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees who sports a .339 average.

Harry Walker of Philadelphia, the Nationals' starting center fielder in today's dream game, leads his league with a .335 mark, a ten point drop from his average of a week ago.

Trailing Walker is St. Louis' Enos "Country" Slaughter who is slated to open in left field for the Nationals, with a .330 mark.

Ralph Kiner, hard-hitting outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, jumped from seventh to third by boosting his mark from .316 to .321, nine points behind Slaughter.

Other National Leaders
Rounding out the Nationals' top ten are Bert Haas, Cincinnati, .320; Walker Cooper, New York, .316; Johnny Mize, New York, .313; Terry Moore, St. Louis, and Carl Furillo, Brooklyn, .312; Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, .311 and Willard Marshall, New York, .307. Kiner, Moore, Furillo and Robinson are the only ones of the group who were not nominated to the all-star squad.

Cooper and Mize will start the intra-league classic behind the bat and at first respectively.

George Kell, Detroit's crack third baseman and starting hot corner guardian of the American all-star squad, brings up third place in the American league batting honors with .329.

Back of Kell are, George McGinnis, New York, .328, Bob Dillinger, St. Louis, and Luke Appling, Chicago, .316. Jeff Heath, St. Louis, .308, Ted Williams, Boston, .307, Barney McCosky, Philadelphia, .305 and Johnny Lindell, New York, .304.

LOCKE LEADING IN "TAM" GOLF

Chicago, July 8 (AP)—The favorite club in Bobby Locke's bag is a rusty putter that looks like something captured from a tribe in the unexplored regions of his native South Africa.

The rusty relic of unknown age pulled Locke through five straight sub-par rounds in the All-American professional golf tournament to a 72-hole tie Sunday and yesterday enabled him to finish three strokes up on Ed "Porky" Oliver of Wilmington, Del., at the end of the first 18 holes of their 36 hole match at Tam O'Shanter Country club.

The winner, following their 18-hole final playoff round today, will draw down the $7,000 first money. Second place gets some $3,500 less.

In nine tournaments here prior to the Tam O'Shanter show, Locke won $9,730 prize money, including four first place awards. It was reported that promoter George S. May, who backed the Tam tournament, gave Locke $5,000 to enter the pro show.

For Oliver, a victory would be his first major tournament title since losing his chance in the 1940 National open with a much-ballyhooed late start on the first tee which brought his disqualification.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Dedication of First Minnesota Regiment: A large delegation from the state of Minnesota arrived here on Thursday on a special Pullman train to dedicate the monument on the following day, July 2, erected by that state in commemoration of the heroic services of the First Minnesota Regiment. Quite a number of the delegation, comprising over 200 persons, were quartered in the different hotels, the greater part, however, remaining in their Pullmans. The afternoon was spent in touring the field. In the evening the Grand Army band serenaded the visitors who were stopping at the various hotels.

On the morning of the dedication a large crowd assembled at the location of the monument on Hancock avenue. A covered stand had been erected which accommodated those who took part in the exercises, and seats had been provided for the audience.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. H. W. McKnight, D. D., president of Pennsylvania college. D. M. Clough, governor of the state of Minnesota, was the first speaker. Col. E. Cope, on behalf of the Battlefield Commission, accepted the monument in a brief speech.

The next speaker was Judge William Lochren, formerly commissioner of pensions, who at one period commanded the regiment. Hon. C. K. Davis, who is the senior United States Senator from the state of Minnesota, was the next speaker. His address was the principal one of the occasion.

The speaker following Senator Davis was Colonel Covill, Major Martin Maginnis, the next speaker, was greeted with a hearty cheer from his old comrades.

Short addresses were made by the congressmen from the state of Minnesota, viz: Hon. J. A. Tawney, who is a native of this county; Hon. Loren Fletcher, Hon. J. C. McCleary, Hon. P. Morris, Hon. H. P. Stephens and Hon. P. M. Eddy.

The delegation of Lafayette Post GAR of Easton, who are in camp on Culp's Hill, with their two-pounder brass cannons, fired a governor's salute in front of the Eagle hotel on Friday evening prior to the departure of the Minnesota visitors, who left at 8:30 on their way to Washington, D. C.

Accidents: On Monday, while celebrating the 4th, Walter, the 11-year-old son of James Weaver, of this place, had his face badly burned by powder from a small cannon.

John H. Sheads had his left arm badly lacerated on Monday evening by a large dynamite cracker thrown by some unknown person.

Dr. T. T. Tate was called in the above two cases.

On Saturday a two-year-old son of Price Oyler, Straban township, was playing in the barn, while the men were using a hay fork, taking hold of the rope as they were pulling it, his right hand ran into the pulley, tearing the flesh from the middle finger and lacerating the back of the hand in an ugly manner.

Marriages: Groff—Resh—July 5, at Bonneville, by Rev. William E. Martin, Newton X. Groff to Miss Lillie R. Resh, both of Mount Pleasant township.

Rickrode—Lawyer: July 3, at York Springs, by D. H. Markle, Esq., George Rickrode to Miss Ellen C. R. Lawyer, both of Huntington township.

Local Miscellany: Engineman Kershner and fireman Forey, of the Western Maryland railroad ran the special train of eight Pullmans, carrying the First Minnesota Regiment from Hanover to this place in 29 minutes on Thursday. On Friday evening they ran the train to Baltimore, 71 miles, in two hours. Grant Eckert was the conductor.

Harvesting has commenced in earnest, and the wheat crop which is very fine, is being rapidly cut. The noise of the reaper is heard on all sides.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE HONEST APPROACH

I believe anyone can get just about what he deserves out of life, if he approaches his objective honestly and openly. We are all salesmen, with something either to sell or to give away, according to our mood and circumstance.

Nearly every prominent business man is being constantly interrupted by the call of salesmen, and most of them use some sort of ruse to get an audience. They do not realize that the only sure approach is the honest one. The other kind may be a tricky telephone call, or the promise of a nice note book, "with your name in gold upon it," if you will but send your name and address—no obligation whatsoever! Or it may be an invitation of some sort—a nice bribe.

The honest approach, however, is the only one worth attempting. Few big business men are so busy that they will not gladly listen to anyone with an idea, or with something to sell that may add to the efficiency of their work or to that of their concern.

Many people daily approach life, it seems, with a chip on their shoulder. And they wonder why people are not eager to knock it off! People are not eager to engage in any conflict that is of no concern to them. That is why people select their friends and co-workers from those who approach life with an honesty of purpose and with a determination to give much and to get much—and odds asked of no one! There is no easy entrance to any place of responsibility. And there is no easy approach to anything that is worth while. But there is always an honorable approach to the ear and heart of the most noted of so-called "hard-boiled" men. Many years of life have been spent in selling, and the easiest men to approach have been the big ones, by being sincere and open in the presentation of approach. Big men were once little men — and they rarely forget.

We should form the habit of a happy approach to each day of our lives. And to each task, no matter how confusing or difficult at first. It is possible for any one of us to feel that he is living the triumphant life.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Read and Read and Read!"

THRILL

"We did it for a thrill!"—Boy burglars' explanation.

"We did it for a thrill!"—One foolish, reckless word

By which the untrained mind and will

To dreadful crime are stirred!

A thrill is an excitement keen

That makes the pulses throb.

A happy word that shouldn't mean

To murder or to rob.

And there are thrills of better sort

That come from splendid things.

From wholesome play and manly sport

And homes where laughter rings.

Now every time I hear it said:

"A thrill I hoped to claim,"

I know a single word has led

Another boy to shame.

KESSELRING IS EXAMPLE HOW HATE ABATING

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, whose death sentence as a war criminal has been commuted to life imprisonment, is one of the truly fabulous figures of the second World War.

The decision of Lieut. Gen. Sir John Harding, British commander in the central Mediterranean, to spare the life of this career German militarist is a footnote in large type to dying British war animosity.

Kesselring, at 60 a veteran of 40 years of soldiering through two wars, has had more military ups and downs than a roller coaster. He began as a young foot soldier, made and lost a great fame in the air as a Luftwaffe leader, and wound up as Nazi Germany's last stout ground strategist.

He failed both in aerial offense and ground defense—but both his offensive and defensive campaigns will be long remembered and studied.

Britain in particular will forever keep in memory this bald Bavarian. It was he, a former pilot and close friend of Herman Goering, who flew the Luftwaffe against Poland, fired Rotterdam, rained down death upon the British troops at sandy Dunkerque.

Remembered In London

His name is identified with Coventry and every bomb that fell during the great "battle of Britain," which was turned into a debate for both Goering and Kesselring by a few men in a few Spitfires. Yes, London will always remember him, for the scars of his coming are still there.

Kesselring trooped them in North Africa and Russia, and he led the Luftwaffe again in the battle of Sicily in the summer of 1943. American commanders were so contemptuous of his air strategy in that campaign that General Eisenhower's chief of staff told a press conference:

"We're thinking of flying one of our air medals over and dropping it to him. He's been a big help to us."

But the joking at Kesselring ceased rapidly after he took over the defense of Italy. The stubborn fight he made up the long Italian peninsula—particularly at Cassino and Anzio—won him grudging admiration from American and British leaders on this "forgotten front."

Just before war's end Adolf Hitler summoned him to the defense of the western front—a cause already lost.

He was put on trial before a British military court as a war criminal for executing 335 Italians in the Ardennine caves in reprisal for the death of 32 of his soldiers, caused by bombs hurled by Italian underground agents into a German column marching through Rome.

Cites U. S. Rule

"Shooting of 300 or more criminals—as I was convinced they were—was the fairest solution in the eyes of history, morality and humanity," Kesselring testified, citing alleged cases of well poisoning, mutilation and torture by Italian partisans against his troops.

And then, returning for perhaps the last time to the old German principle that the best defense is a counterattack, he introduced as justification for his action the "Rules of Land Warfare," issued by the U. S. Army. These say in part:

"Hostages taken and held for the declared purpose of insuring against unlawful acts by the enemy forces or people may be put to death if the unlawful acts are nevertheless committed."

But the British military court, after all the evidence was in, still deemed Kesselring and two other German generals to be death.

Civilians may debate the wisdom of the British general who spared these enemy lives. But few professional soldiers will—in America or elsewhere. They don't like the general principle of shooting losing generals. They have a class-conscious feeling about the matter. They realize it might be their turn after some other war.

But in any case Kesselring, old and ailing with a chronic gall bladder complaint, probably won't survive to play a part in any future battles. His days of muscle are done.

New Car Dealers Plan Safety Drive

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Automotive association invited new car dealers from all parts of the state to a meeting here today for the purpose of setting up a new safety campaign.

Nearly 250 delegates, representing 3,000 dealers, were here for the conference, and heard talks by key state officials on problems of highway safety and driver education.

Among the subjects up for discussion at the conference were raising the calibre of car inspections; the promotion of driver education courses in high schools; and the sponsoring of local programs to relieve traffic congestion in downtown areas of the state's principal cities.

the expedition, of which Waltersdorf was a part, three and a half weeks to get into the Little America section instead of the three days that had been planned, he said.

Photographed Continent

Three groups took part in the expedition, one group going in on the 180th meridian, another going in just south of Cape Horn and the other going in south of Africa. Aerial photographers from the three sections of the expedition mapped all but 11 degrees of the Antarctic continent from their bases, according to Waltersdorf.

"The shifting ice of the pack frequently endangered the ships," Waltersdorf said. He described the trip of the "North Wind," an ice breaker which, after the pack had been entered to a depth of about 100 miles was ordered to escort the submarine with the expedition out of the pack because of the danger to the undersea craft. The ships were placed in open water and the ice breaker had gotten about 50 miles away when it received a distress call. The pack was closing in on the ships. By the time it got back to the expedition five hours later, the men were preparing to abandon one of the cargo ships which was being squeezed between two sides of the ice pack. The ice breaker was able to break down the ice sufficiently to release the ship.

The group landed January 18 at 1:20 a. m. although "time did not mean a thing down there. It was light all of the 24 hours and we were busy. So you just worked along until you were dead tired and then slept."

celebrate his birthday on July 4th. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Adams, Janet, David and Harry Adams, Mr. and Mrs. C. Felix Adams, Louise Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Harner and children, Harriet and Charles Harner, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Overholzer.

Miss Theima Lingg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lingg, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Gordon Proff, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Roy Bollinger and granddaughter, Patty Jean, and Carrie Hartzell spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Halbert Poole and daughters, near Bethesda, Md.

While playing Thursday at her home Patty Jean Bower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bower, fell into the head of a large nail which caused a wound on her leg that required several stitches. The injured member was treated at the office of Dr. Bradley, Taneytown.

John Michael Humerick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Humerick, West Main street, met with an accident on July 4th when he ran from behind a parked automobile in front of his home into the path of a passing car driven by Mr. Yingling, insurance collector of Taneytown. The boy was treated at the Warner hospital and later returned to his home.

Forty-one members and friends of the local Frederick County Council of Homemakers clubs took a bus trip last Wednesday to Washington. The trip was made in a bus from Lewistown and left the square in Emmitsburg at 7:30 a. m. The first stop of interest was the White House where the group was guided through the different rooms. A guide was secured for the next stop which was the capitol. Lunch was next on the program at Rock Creek park. A drive to Mt. Vernon followed. The National Airport was visited on the return trip to Washington. Other points of interest included Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, Washington Monument and Haines Point. After a supper in a park near Gaithersburg the group returned home at 10:30 p. m.

Miss Margaret Wagaman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wagaman, who recently spent three weeks at the home of her parents, has returned to U. S. Veterans hospital, Perry Point, Md., where she will work on the graduate staff.

The name of Ann Marie Topper was omitted from the list of names recently published who attended a wiener roast on June 28th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sanders.

Nine Nations Vote For Arms Reduction

Lake Success, July 8 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today approved an American blueprint for arms reduction discussions despite a Russian warning that the plan would bring about a collapse of arms regulation efforts.

Huge Disc "Seen" By Vacationer

George Rebert, York street, is one of the first Gettysburgians who has been reported to have seen something that may have been a flying disc.

Rebert, on vacation at Hunting-ton, L. I., last week was fishing with a brother-in-law, Herbert Riggs, when the pair noticed something that looked like a huge disc with some vapor trailing behind it flash-ing across the sky.

Rebert was said to have noted that the strange sky visitor traveled as fast as the head could move from horizon to horizon. Not believing his eyes he turned to Riggs and asked if he too had seen the object and the speed at which it was traveling.

Both agreed as to the sight, but neither was sure what it might have been.

Whether or not it was a "disc" similar to that seen by others throughout the country was not known by Rebert.

Rain Floods Mines In Eastern Areas

(By The Associated Press)

Six mines in the Hazleton area were forced to shut down and rivers in eastern Pennsylvania swelled to near flood stage today following rain that set new records in parts of the area during the last 24 hours.

At Hazleton, weather observer Andrew B. Evans reported a record fall of 5.56 inches during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. The surface water poured into the mines, forcing them to shut down operations. The previous record for a like period was slightly more than three inches.

Weather bureau reports listed 5.22 inches at Pottsville, 4.46 at Tamaqua, 4.36 at Port Clinton, 2.30 at Reading and more than two inches at Allentown. The precipitation was only .29 of an inch at Philadelphia.

Delinquent Tax Measure Is Signed

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—A measure setting up a new system of collecting delinquent taxes in most of the state effective January 1, 1948, was signed today by Gov. James H. Duff. The bill authorizes all counties, except Philadelphia and Allegheny, to set up delinquent tax bureaus to which claims for unpaid levies will be reported by taxing bodies by May of each year.

Property owners who have not paid their taxes will be notified by June 30 following that they have one year in which to redeem their property and if taxes are not paid the property can be sold without further opportunity for redemption.

The bill permits counties to decide by January 1, 1948, whether they wish to continue present delinquent collecting methods while cities and school districts also are given an opportunity to continue present methods.

EQUAL PAY BILL SIGNED

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP) Legislation requiring equal pay for women doing equal work with men and extending the permissible work week for the sex from 44 to 48 hours a week was signed into law today by Gov. James H. Duff. The executive, at the same time, vetoed another measure to require labor unions to file annual reports with the Department of Labor and Industry.

Dear Susan Brown By Caroline Hall

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 11 John Bates, cameraman, dug his bare toes into the sandy beach and indulged in the unholy pastime of hating the world and all that was in it—including himself. He had lain awake most of the night trying to justify his foolish decision to remain on the staff of a confession magazine when a world of adventure and genuine usefulness was calling.

His resentment was further intensified by the growing suspicion that the pictures he'd made the previous afternoon would do nothing for his reputation. Nor would they do anything for the magazine. Aside from the shot of George Peyton carrying his wife over the threshold, they were pitiful.

"As a cameraman," John muttered, flinging himself down on the sand and rolling over on his back. "I'm no credit to the profession. As a matter of fact, I'm just a spineless, no-good so-and-so."

He had risen at dawn to pace the floor restlessly, and to wish he were anywhere else than at Oceanview. He had eaten a hurried breakfast of toast and black coffee in the big kitchen with the Eltons while the other guests slept. He had listened to Mrs. Elton's monologue on unwanted guests and how they should go back to wherever they came from.

John had listened, nodding his head at appropriate intervals. He had also listened to Mr. Elton's four prophecies regarding a rain-storm, which hadn't as yet come off. It was with considerable difficulty that the cameraman had refrained from saying, "Okay. Let her come. Who cares if we're all dumped into the Sound? I'm sure I don't."

Instead, he had favored Elton with a commiserating smile, thanked Mrs. Elton for breakfast, and escaped to his room. Presently he had put on his bathing trunks and gone down to the private beach, resolved to get away from the stuffy atmosphere of the big house and the strange assortment of people who infested it. He had stayed in the water for almost an hour, hoping that its cool, cleansing touch would alleviate his restlessness and wash a little common sense into his brain.

At this point he took a little time out from the consideration of his personal grievances to feel sorry for Susan Brown. There was a girl who was not only wasting her time; she was sticking her pretty neck out too—and for no good reason at all. Why, she hadn't been given even so much as a raise in salary. Steve Gellis—the so-and-so—was trading on the fact that she was in love with her job.

Well, he conceded, Susan was in love with her job. There was no denying that. She got all starchy-eyed and mealy-mouthed when she talked about it, the poor bemused kid.

One of these days, he concluded, Susan would wake up to the fact that these people didn't really want help or advice. They were exhibitionists, pure and simple. They aired their dirty linens in public for want of something better to do. Their problems were definitely of their own making.

But the greatest pity of all, John reflected, was that any minute now Steve Gellis was likely to change the entire policy of the magazine. It would be just like him to decide all of a sudden that "America Loves"

Governor Vetoes Dog Training Bill

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—Governor James H. Duff says he believes there are more hunters than dog trainers in Pennsylvania.

In rejecting a bill that would extend the time for training hunting dogs in the commonwealth, Duff said yesterday, "to further extend the time in which dogs may be trained would almost surely result in the further decrease of our already seriously depleted supply of small game."

He added that "considering the number of persons interested in hunting, compared to the number who will be benefited by extension of the dog training period, the scales are heavily in favor of the vastly greater number primarily interested in hunting."

and let Mrs. Tremont and Susan carry on with the party. It wasn't like a publisher to be hanging around with his hired help. And he certainly had no business playing tennis with a slip of a girl who worked on his staff, perhaps putting romantic ideas into her head! Susan was just young and vulnerable enough to get the notion that the boss was falling in love with her—when everyone knew that such things happened only in storybooks.

No, there was no reason in the world Steve should not go back to his office and let nature take its course with his daisy-picking guests. Surely he did not think they couldn't be intimidated into good behavior by his presence. It was clear that they were utterly unimpressed by the fact that so important a personage as the publisher was in their midst. They made no attempt to hide the fact that already they were getting on one another's nerves.

Except for the Peytons, who paid no attention to anyone but each other, it was not a congenial group. Eventually they would get mad and go home, possibly to start lawsuits for imaginary injuries sustained while guests of "America Loves" at Oceanview. After the previous day's unhappy experience in the matter of taking their pictures, he was ready to accuse them of anything short of murder.

ously depleted supply of small game."

He added that "considering the number of persons interested in hunting, compared to the number who will be benefited by extension of the dog training period, the scales are heavily in favor of the vastly greater number primarily interested in hunting."

GOOD PICTURES FILM DOM'S BID AGAINST SLUMP

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, July 8 (AP)—The much-feared summer slump in theater business will be combated by film companies with the best possible weapon — good pictures.

The industry was worried that this year would bring back the hot weather drop in movie attendance so familiar before the war. The studios were prepared to hold back their better pictures until fall, when they would earn more money. But receipts are little lower and some of the "specials" are being unleashed to offset any further slide.

Among summer attractions will be "The Hucksters," "Perils of Pauline," "Life with Father," "The Bachelor and the Bobbysoxer" and others. It could be that the war years have brought a greater dependency on the films for entertainment, even when seashore and mountains beckon.

Garson Still Tops

Greer Garson is apparently still top gal at MGM. She sat at Louis B. Mayer's right at the studio boss's birthday party. Lana Turner was at his left. . . . Rumor around Paramount is that two big blonde actors are being dropped. . . . With "Cass Timberlane" closing, Zachary Scott is off to the family ranch in Texas and Spencer Tracy heads for New York. He'll see Sinclair Lewis, author of "Cass."

Dan Duryea is happy with his new U-I contract that calls for three films a year and no options for three years. He still wants to stick to heavies. . . . And Bill Powell is pleased with his loan-out for "The Senator Was Indiscreet" and hopes for more. The trouble with MGM, he says, is that they judge you on what you have done, not what you can do.

Two-Hour Story

Alfred Hitchcock's next, "Rope," will be something new in films. The whole action will take place in two hours, the film's running time, so there will be no lapse of time in the story. . . . Compton Bennett, director of "The Seventh Veil," has no cinch in his American debut, "My Own True Love." He has to anglicize Melvin Douglas' speech for the British market and Americanize Phyllis Calvert's for the U.S.

A million dollars was spent on "The Exile" sets, half the picture's cost. Doug, Jr., is carrying on the Fairbanks tradition for lavish settings. . . . Howard Dasilva lectures on acting at UCLA this fall. . . . Embarrassing moment: When several Paramount stars showed up with new cars of the same model.

Governor Grants Pardons To Eleven

Harrisburg, July 8 (AP)—Carrying out the recommendations of the state Board of Pardons, Governor James H. Duff granted pardons to eleven persons and commuted the sentences of 25 other prisoners.

Among those granted pardons were Joseph Charles Coyle, Montgomery, breaking and entering; and Reuben R. Robinson, Clearfield, burglary.
